

Finally...

Put Your True Work into the World

Create successfully in the transformational energy of 2012

with Dr. Meredith Young-Sowers
(beloved spiritual teacher & best-selling author)

This Finally... Put Your True Work into the World Intensive has three objectives:

- One — To take you through a genuine creative discovery process that helps you finally lift the fog and uncover your true work in the world;
- Two — To discover new dimensions to “your work,” or to narrow-down the field of “possibilities” that you could do or that others have told you that you would be good at doing;
- Three — To develop an action plan that serves as a roadmap for putting your work into forward gear.

Walking a new path

We will use the time together to shift out of walking a path of worry, anxiety and uncertainty and venturing onto a more empowering path — one that is constructive, self-validating, and ultimately healing and transforming for you.

This new path is also one that will allow you to identify and expand the work/ contribution/or creative endeavors that you want to put forth as a meaningful expression of your natural gifts and talents. As a result, you will feel your soul being nourished because your work will be offered in ways that help sustain you, others and our Earth.

“You have rekindled a lamp that was too deep for me to see. You have brought Spirit’s presence in front of my eyes and in my heart in a permanent way; and now I start my life all over again, as if I had an eternity ahead of me to work in the world.”

How the transformational energy can be your vital ally

This transformational energy that is sweeping over our planet may often feel like it is destroying you – devouring you and our world. It is not. Its real purpose is to refocus you in two important ways:

1. Free you from “needing your empowerment to come from others – from the outside world – from having others recognize you.” The new energy encourages you to believe in yourself so you can put the necessary effort and joy into what you love.

Through guided meditations, Meredith will help you release the useless and artificial need to satisfy others and move you into your own Deep Heart of inner wisdom and guidance – the home of the true fire of your Spirit that already burns within you.

2. Heed the calling of your inner wisdom and genuine creativity – to find and focus your desire, efforts, willingness – mind and heart – around what you came to this life to be and do.

Meredith will help you:

- ⌘ Identify the creative direction/work/contribution that you yearn to make real and/or develop;
- ⌘ Face the fears you’ve allowed to grow until you’ve become convinced that your work can’t happen or that you are one of those individuals who will never be able to figure out what your work/contribution/healing effort really is;
- ⌘ Find the guidance to head you in the right direction;
- ⌘ Create an understanding (plan) of how and what to do;
- ⌘ Recognize and commit to the everyday things (physically, emotionally and spiritually) that motivate you to stay in your true inner power and be successful.

“You challenged me to always see my glass as half-full rather than half-empty—to live in the moment and let go of the past (while retaining the lessons learned.”

“You taught me to shift from that outmoded way of responding to a new way of being that enabled me to stand in my Authentic Self, my God-Self.”

ADDITIONALLY... Meredith will weave other fascinating components into your creative discovery process:

1. How to understand the planetary power shift

Meredith has been receiving important guidance from Spirit/Mentor regarding the upcoming years and what is really happening within and on the Earth. She'll share with you the potential impact this power shift has for your life and all life.

Not since her writing of Agartha: a Journey to the Stars and the Angelic Messenger Cards has she been so revealing about Mentor's insights into the nature of these times. His original predictions have all come true and so these new understandings will be both fascinating and essential for our health and wellbeing.

2. The way to align with the energy of Potential & Manifestation

With so much attention on the Law of Attraction, Meredith invited Spirit to give her the next level of universal understanding regarding our lives and our planet. And because these Laws of Potential and Manifestation govern how successfully we can create and manage our lives, our health, and our work/ business, Meredith will teach you how to align with these powerful universal energies to maximize the results you want and need.

These two primary spiritual laws also directly impact your ability to put aside old beliefs about yourself and to allow your potential to make itself known in new ways. You can not manifest what you don't really believe in or trust that you can follow-through on.

Using Intuitive Perception to do “self-scanning”

An interesting component to this exploration will be an intuitive process of “self scanning” to identify what these Universal Energy Currents are telling you about your own body/mind. You'll see, sense and realize what is actually blocking your own energy flows and what you can do about it. Fascinating!

Manifesting, it turns out, isn't quite as simple as people think. What is the missing piece?
Come & find out!

3. How you can free yourself from your “struggles”

Meredith will help you uncover and heal your personal struggles that have defeated your efforts to either find your work, create success out of your work, or find the magic thread of what your “life purpose” really is.

Your personal struggles will become more evident to you through the intuitive scanning process. And Meredith will help you shed further light on your efforts to “come clean” from old patterns, as you examine the impact of two powerful sets of archetypes on your life: the Magician & the Orphan — and the Seeker & The Sage.

Why do these particular patterns stand out and what can they tell you about your life and your work? In what way are they helping alert you to the need to be completely authentic, to trust your words and have them centered in your Deep Heart, to seek abundance not just for yourself but also for others.

And finally to recognize that you have Real God working with you in ways never imagined. Discover what these archetypes are telling you.

This 4-day program is both inspirational and very practical. You’ll walk away with a genuine plan born from your own Deep Heart, and finally, you’ll identify where you’ve gotten stuck in the past and what you can now bring to your aid that will make all the difference.

Meredith only takes a small group so there is personal time. She has limited this program to forty people, including small group teachers.

“Your model of how the functioning of the human body mirrors the inner spiritual journey is brilliant. I grasped fully that the guiding principle is to enhance life and love for myself and others.”
